

Swiss-AS' Press Release

Lufthansa CityLine takes off with AMOS

November 2013

AMOS chosen by another member of the Lufthansa Group

The contract between Lufthansa CityLine and Swiss AviationSoftware (Swiss-AS) is freshly inked and AMOS is set as the new MRO solution for the airline.

"As part of the Lufthansa Group we are proud that more and more members of the 'corporate family' are switching to AMOS. Our software is considered within the airline group as a cost-saving product and we are pleased to live up to our reputation of being a software supplier delivering a high-quality product which ensures a quick return on investment," states Ronald Schaeuffele, CEO of Swiss-AS.

Lufthansa CityLine is heading for a lean AMOS implementation. The time line of this project is of paramount importance to ensure a smooth system migration.

"The implementation of AMOS will make our MRO operations even more efficient and flexible. It will also enable us to interact more easily with our customer airlines that already use AMOS," said Wolfgang Diefenbach, Vice President Technical Operations at Lufthansa CityLine.
