AMOS to provide El Al with competitive edge

El Al performed an intensive evaluation process to familiarise themselves with AMOS and visited existing AMOS customers to learn of their experiences regarding the implementation process and the daily usage of the system. As a result, El Al awarded its MRO software contract to Swiss-AS.

"It is our aim to base our significant MRO activities on a stable and well proven solution in order to align with business practices, to improve M&E processes and to achieve a better integration of the MRO system in EL AL's application environment," states Ofer Tsabary, CIO of El Al.

Ronald Schaeuffele, CEO of Swiss-AS, comments: "It is great to have El Al on board and further proof that our user-driven software development is the right approach to meet the community's expectations."

Due to the airline's wide scope of maintenance services performed in-house, El Al will make extensive use of the functional width and depth of AMOS.
