AMOS expands its presence in the Americas

After an intensive MRO software evaluation, Swiss-AS and its Miami based AMOS Business Unit within Lufthansa Systems are delighted to announce that Aerolíneas Argentinas along with their sister airline Austral have selected AMOS as their new MRO software solution to lead them into the future.

"The AMOS team is honoured to team-up with Aerolíneas Argentinas and Austral. We are convinced that AMOS is the perfect fit and the decision to implement AMOS as-is underlines the functional maturity of the system," says Ronald Schaeuffele, CEO of Swiss-AS.

The selection process was very involved and focused on system functionality, user friendliness and state-of-the-art technology. In the end AMOS was the clear winner by the selection team. It is expected that with AMOS the internal processes will be fully remodelled within both companies and will bring great efficiencies to the business enabling the companies to grow and compete in the very dynamic and aggressive market of Latin America. The focus in the implementation is on using the system as-is without any customisations. This approach will help to streamline the implementation process and to ensure an on target go-live.
